Dear Friends:

The Iowa Accountability Program (IAP) was established to address the disproportionate numbers of African Americans affected by domestic violence. IAP specializes in programming tailored to enhancing relationships between the African American community and system professionals. In order to be successful in our mission, we must connect with the African American community across the state.

Today, I present to you the 2015 Greater Iowa African American Resource Guide. Since 2005, the Greater Iowa African American Resource Guide has listed hundreds of amazing African American businesses, organizations, elected officials, consultants, physicians, services, and places of worship throughout Iowa; this edition alone showcases over 500 individuals, businesses, and organizations. During these tough economic times, we must continue to support one another.

Over the past ten years, many editions of the Greater Iowa African American Resource Guide has recognized the unique goods and services that Iowa's African American population has to offer by incorporating the connections of African American community members across the state. These editions have been sent to thousands of people, from community members and leaders to U.S. Congressmen. We thank you for your contributions to the Greater Iowa African American Resource Guide and ask for your continued assistance, whether contributing new listings or sharing this resource guide. The assistance we have received in updating this Resource Guide embodies the importance and need for connectivity in our community and state.

Each listing – from elected officials, to places of worship, to physicians, to businesses – contributes to the overall Iowa economy and more importantly, the overall community. Teaching Iowans about these priceless tools has further connected the community, the state, and the people. Whether you are a newcomer or a lifetime resident in Iowa, my hope is that you will find this resource of value and that there will be many more editions to come.

Thank you for reading, and please feel free to share the 2015 Greater Iowa African American Resource Guide with family, friends, and associates.

Sincerely,

Director of the Iowa Accountability Program

History of African Americans in Iowa

African Americans have had a rich and influential position in Iowa’s history. The first African Americans arrived in Iowa around 1838, coming to help settle the territory. Although a Free State, Iowa established strict codes, called Organic Codes, in order to discourage African American migration. Despite restrictions, African Americans continued to inhabit the area, albeit in limited numbers.

Though the state placed regulations that discriminated against African Americans, many Abolitionists lived in Iowa. Such people participated in the Underground Railroad by creating posts all around the state. Many African Americans passed through Iowa on their way to Canada, some staying behind to make their home.

After the Civil War, African American migration increased. Many individuals came looking for jobs, finding work in coal mines, meat packing plants, and railroad companies. Buxton, in Monroe County, was created due to the influx of African Americans towards the coal industry. Although never formally a town, Buxton – an integrated community – was 75 percent African American. While a mining community, many African Americans held professional positions such as dentists, doctors, and lawyers. Buxton and its mining facilities closed in the early 1920’s as the mining industry in the area began to collapse. However, the importance of its legacy helped to further African American achievements in Iowa.

The state has also nurtured and educated some of America’s most prestigious African American leaders. Such leaders include famous inventor and scientist, Dr. George Washington Carver. Dr. Carver was educated at Iowa State University and is known for his development in agriculture. Freddrick D. Patterson, the founder of the United Negro College Fund and former president of the Tuskegee Institute, is an additional student of Iowa State University. On August 20, 2010, Romonda D. Belcher became the first African American female to be appointed as a judge in the state of Iowa. In addition, there have been several professional athletes, politicians, and activists that have once called Iowa their home.

Furthermore, Iowa has been a national leader in civil rights decisions at the bench. In Re Matter of Ralph (1839), the Iowa Supreme Court rejected slavery saying that the U.S. Constitution “extends equal protection to men of all colors and conditions.” This was almost 20 years before the Dred Scott Decision, in which slaves were determined to not be protected by the U.S. Constitution. In Clark vs. Board of Directors (1868), the Iowa Supreme Court ruled that segregated schools were against the law, almost 100 years before Brown vs. Board of Education (1954) came to the same decision. Finally, in Coger vs. the Northwest Union Packet Co. (1873), the Iowa Supreme Court ruled that public accommodations must serve all people equally, regardless of color. This decision came nearly 100 years before Heart of Atlanta Motel vs. United States (1964).

African American History in Cedar Rapids: Cedar Rapids received their first Black resident in the late 1800s and early 1900s. Many African Americans came to Cedar Rapids as a result of employment opportunities in a local railroad company. They remained in segregated communities due to strict race codes until the mid-1940s. During this time, racial disputes occurred as a result of discriminatory practices regarding public facilities. These incidents lead to a shift in more equal racial relationships and the establishment of a local NAACP chapter, as well as the eventual opening of facilities after protests.

African American History in Davenport: The African American population of Davenport can be traced back to at least the 1830s. Davenport saw two major periods of African American migration: the first, in the years up to and just beyond the Civil War; the second, in the early 20th century. During the 19th century, African Americans fleeing both slavery and the Civil War came to Davenport since it was a major port on the Mississippi River, and ports in Missouri were deemed too hostile to migrants.

In the early 20th century, steamboats paddling up the Mississippi brought jazz musicians and others to river ports as far north as Davenport. Today, the Mississippi Valley Blues Society, headquartered in Davenport, is an organization promoting the knowledge and appreciation of blues music in the Quad Cities area.

African American History in Des Moines: Since its establishment, Des Moines, Iowa, has acted as a hub for economic, cultural, and educational growth for its African American citizens. Some of these achievements include the establishment of the first Iowa NAACP chapter, the National Bar Association, and Fort Des Moines, the first training facility in the nation open to officers of color.

Des Moines is also home of Susan M. Brown, a nationally famed leader in religious, political, and fraternal organizations.

Luther T. Glanton Jr., was the first African American Judge in Iowa. Willie Stevenson Glanton was the first African American legislator of Iowa. Romonda D. Belcher was appointed as the first African American female Judge in Iowa on August 20, 2010.

James B. Morris Sr. published and edited the Iowa State Bystander from 1922 to 1977. Established in 1894, the Iowa State Bystander was the first African American Newspaper West of the Mississippi. The Iowa Bystander was featured earlier this decade at the Smithsonian Museum and the White House, and to this day, remains the third oldest African American publication in its existence and the oldest West of the Mississippi.

Gary Lawson founded the Iowa Juneteenth Observance in 1990. Juneteenth is an international celebration of the end to slavery in America. Lawson spearheaded the passage of legislation, signed into law by Governor Tom Vilsack on April 11, 2002, designating the third Saturday in June as the official annual observance of Juneteenth in Iowa. Lawson also founded the Iowa African American Hall of Fame (IAAHF) in 1995, which has since been transferred to Iowa State University. The IAAHF recognizes African Americans who have significantly contributed to the quality of life in Iowa.

Disclaimer: The Iowa Accountability Program (IAP) provides this statewide Resource Guide as a public service. The Iowa Accountability Program contacts every business/organization listed herein; however, it takes a few months to make contact. Unfortunately, a business that is viable today may be out of business tonight. It is our goal to have a timely and accurate Resource Guide, but please understand that some things are out of our control. If you would like to add or update the information in this Resource Guide, please use the Business & Organization Entry Form (p. iii).

In addition, IAP makes every effort to contact each listing (phone calls, emails, posted letters, etc.); if contacts were not responsive to our efforts, unfortunately they were removed from this edition of the Resource Guide. IAP makes no representation, guarantees, or warranties as to the suitability of the information provided. IAP specifically disclaims any and all liability for any claims or damages that may result from providing the Resource Guide or information it contains, including any web sites maintained by third parties.

The Iowa Accountability Program does not accept payments or monetary contributions (as this is a free service) nor does it endorse any individual, agency, or organization listed within this Resource Guide. We attempt to provide current and accurate information; however, because this information comes from a variety of sources, IAP does not warrant or make any representation as to the suitability, and/or accessibility of services provided by any of the core agencies, faith-based, and community-based service providers listed within the document. Users should be aware that we try to keep the information timely and accurate, but there will be a delay between receipt of information and their appearance in the Resource Guide.

IAP reserves the right to not include in the Resource Guide any information that does not appear to meet our needs, the needs of the database, or our selection criteria.
