

Words of Advice

In the words of the cultural icon Vanilla Ice: “Stop, collaborate, and listen.” Science is a team sport. Embracing diverse perspectives and working together with colleagues locally, nationally, and internationally is key to productivity.

Adele Stewart, Ph.D.

Research Assistant Professor of Biomedical Science
College of Medicine, Florida Atlantic University

Dr. Stewart is currently one of the senior research personnel in the laboratory of the director of the FAU Stiles-Nicholson Brain Institute. In addition to participating in research into the role of dopaminergic dysfunction in psychiatric disorders, her responsibilities include grant writing, manuscript preparation, project management, and mentorship of graduate and undergraduate students working in the lab.

Completed PhD in Pharmacology: 2014